SENIORS

The Class of 1938, largest ever graduated from New Trier, has done much to expand activities and to enrich life at the school.

Weep Not For Me

JACK JENNINGS

Weep not for me, but
Let me weep for you.
Your life is pain,
Your joys are few.

You fear this death;
My fear is gone.
For I have found
Eternal dawn.

A perfect peace
Is mine today,
While trouble lies
Your tedious way.

No crossing is
So free of strife
As that which leads
From life to life.

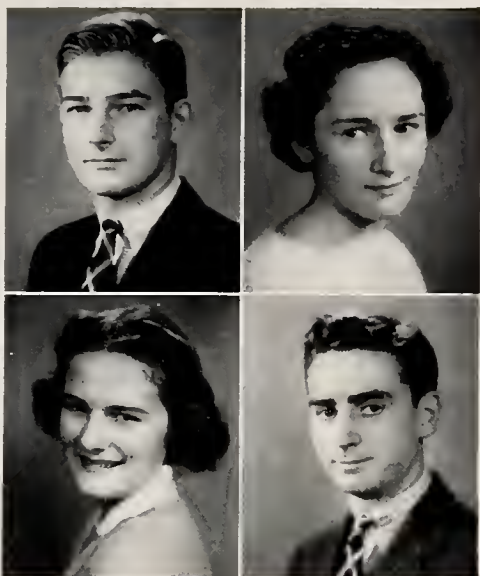

JAY CROWELL

And when you cross
In days to be,
I'll clasp your hand;
Weep not for me.

Seniors

No, Class of 1938, you can never leave New Trier.

For a year you have led the school in scholarship as well as in the many traditional activities which make up New Trier life. By next year the activities that have been instituted through your efforts, your contributions, your spirit will also have become a part of New Trier tradition.

You will all be a part of College Night because it was instituted by your leaders in council. Year after year you will help students in their selections of colleges. You will be a part of "Pro-Con" whatever form it may take. The spirit of pointed criticism and honest discussion of school problems will influence the news and student opinion in years to come. Your enthusiastic response to the need of the Tennessee Mountain people expressed through the drive sponsored by Girls' Club and Tri-Ship will be a part of any effort New Trier may offer them in the future. You will always be a part of the sorrows and emergencies of this large student body because of what you have faced this year. You have responded with deepened friendships, quick sympathy, and generous giving.

No, Class of 1938, you can never leave New Trier.

TRI-SHIP AWARD . . . One of the most exciting moments of the school year is the announcement of the Tri-Ship Award. During that moment the name of the senior boy best representing the qualities of Sportsmanship, Citizenship and Fellowship is revealed and he is presented with the silver Tri-Ship cup. The choice was a difficult one this year, resting between Fred Henschel, Peter Bachrach, and Jim Olin, on the final ballot. Jim Olin received the award.

D. A. R. AWARD . . . This award, determined by a vote of the girls, is given to the one girl who is considered the best citizen and all around girl at New Trier. On the ballot this year were six outstanding girls, Jane Penberthy, Mary Shiverick, Rosamund Purdy, Alice Jean Heinsen, Anne Burnham, and Peg Thompson. On the last ballot Peg Thompson and Rosamund Purdy alone remained. Of these two, Peg was selected to receive the D. A. R. award at New Trier and to go to Springfield where one girl will be chosen to represent Illinois at Washington. There the most outstanding girl will be given the national award.

HONOR SOCIETY . . . New Trier's scholarship average this year—2.37—is the highest in the school's history, as well as one of the highest in the country. This high average is due partly to the influence of the Honor Society. To encourage high scholarship, the upper ten per cent of the graduation class, plus any other whose averages are 3.20 or above, are admitted to the Honor Society. No one is admitted whose average is below 3.00, nor are students included who have attended New Trier less than three semesters. The Honor Society does more than recognize the scholastic achievements of its members, for it improves the scholastic reputation of the whole student body.

The senior boy whose four-year average is the highest, receives the Dernehl Award, besides admission to the Honor Society. This award was established in 1932 by Mr. and Mrs. Dernehl in memory of their son John, who died very suddenly on Memorial Day. At that time, John was the ranking senior. The award went this year to Clifford Goodman.

HONOR GROUPS . . . About fourteen years ago the present system of grading was introduced, and the honor groups were formed at the same time. New Trier's honor groups give distinction to those underclassmen who have been on semester honor rolls.

The school average was 2.07 five years ago, then 2.14, and now it is 2.37. Although this increasing average implies that students at New Trier are becoming more intellectual and more industrious, this is not entirely the case. The policy of the present administration is to adapt courses to the students; therefore, exceptionally bright students are put in classes that are more exacting than the average, and less gifted students are put in retarded classes. Teachers grade each student according to the type of class in which he is enrolled. To determine New Trier's ranking in relation to that of other high schools in the country a series of tests were given to the seniors in May.

ADMINISTRATION

At New Trier the students and faculty work together informally for changes and improvement. The Student - Faculty conferences, begun this year, are a fine example of this spirit.

MISS PACKER

The Class of 1938 can claim several unusual achievements.

First, you are the largest class to graduate from New Trier. It is not your size, however, that gives you distinction. Several activities, which will probably continue and become traditions, have been introduced to the school by members of your class.

Not only have you been responsible for introducing many fine activities, but you have maintained and improved activities of long standing which have become associated in people's minds with New Trier—the Christmas concert, the opera, the dramatic productions, the high calibre of New Trier sports with a goodly share of championships, the improved New Trier News, the successful debating and public speak-

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

A great amount of technical skill is required to insure the satisfactory operation of a three million dollar plant accommodating twenty-five hundred students, one hundred fifty faculty and office workers, and about fifty other employees. Smooth operation is facilitated through the competent and cooperative management on the part of these three men.

LOUIS E. HILDEBRAND

On the opening day of school last September, the students and faculty were stunned by the sudden death of Mr. Hildebrand (1909-1937).

For twenty-nine years "Hilde," as he was affectionately but not disrespectfully called, had touched the lives of New Trier students. He was an inspiring teacher, a tireless scientist, and a loyal friend.

He was born, raised, and educated in the rugged hill country of southern Indiana. His formal education was obtained at Valparaiso, Indiana, and Northwestern University. With him education was a continuous process; so he traveled to the remote corners of the earth in his quest for more and more scientific information. The Biology Museum, which in the early fall is to be dedicated to his memory, is filled with evidence of this force which forever drove him on.

ing organizations, the new life that has inspired many clubs, the valuable projects carried on by the Council, the Girls' Club, and the Tri-Ship Club, the improvement of the school scholastic average. To all these things you have made a contribution. We expect you to continue this good work long after you have left New Trier.

OFFICE STAFF

First Row: Alter, Hoagland, Arnold, Parker.

Second Row: Rossberger, Koll, Gibson, Haupt, Poole.

OFFICE STAFF . . . The precision and efficiency with which the school is run would be seriously impaired were it not for the office staff. Many responsibilities are carried by this small, but efficient staff. They have charge of printing and editing all of the bulletins; all locker assignments, program cards and driving permits are handled by this group. Student credits and grades are recorded by the staff; they also act as accountants for the various student organizations.

STUDENT COUNCIL . . . Among the purposes for the founding and maintaining of the Student Council, besides that of giving students the opportunity to take part in the workings of a democratic organization, is the development of the ability, in the individual student, to accept his share of responsibility. The Council accomplishes this aim in promoting extra-curricular activities, thereby attempting to make the school a better educational institution.

MR. VAN DEURSEN

ASSEMBLIES . . . The program sponsored by the assembly committee brings many worthwhile speakers before the student body. This year the following speakers were presented: Rabbi Shulman of Glencoe who spoke at the Armistice Day assembly on current European affairs; Miss Ella Enslow of the Tennessee Mountains who spoke on the educational and living conditions in that district, it was her talk that inspired the Christmas drive for supplies to be sent to the Tennessee Mountains; William Lyon Phelps, former dean at Yale University, who spoke to the Seniors on the value of poetry; Dean William Baird of Berea College in Kentucky, who also spoke on the life of the Southern mountaineers as well as on his experiences at Berea College.

COLLEGE NIGHT . . . To aid students in making their college selection, the Publications committee managed the school's first college exhibit, at which over sixty colleges were represented. The colleges included sent pamphlets of every type concerning the college, and a well informed delegate to talk to those interested. A large attendance insured its continuance.

MESS HALL SITUATION . . . The student relations committee, again attacking the dining hall situation, employed movies and recorded swing music tunes during the lunch periods to make the lunch hour more enjoyable. So popular was this idea that the fund collected for the purpose of improving the dining hall was used for the purchase of a new radio, with phonograph attachment. Also more trash barrels were added and a new arrangement of the tables was tried.

STUDENT SUPERVISION . . . In order to develop the quality of self-reliance in every student, student supervision was established in boys' study halls, following the plan originated in 1936. Students, elected by the boys of the study hall, took the roll and performed the other duties usually done by the teacher. This plan proved so successful that the system was introduced in the girls' study building for one period during the second semester and later extended to include more periods. For those who were not in agreement with this plan or who continually caused disturbances, a faculty supervised study hall was provided. The number in that study hall was, however, extremely small. By the end of the year approximately eleven study periods had been so organized.

THE HILDEBRAND MEMORIAL . . . The building and grounds committee, besides taking care of the routine jobs of bulletin boards and accident reports, managed the collection of a fund for a memorial to the late Louis Hildebrand. This money was used to arrange and catalogue the specimens in the Science Museum, and to buy a tree, as a memorial, to plant in the M.E. court.

FACULTY STUDENT CONFERENCE . . . one in the fall and one in the spring, were sponsored to discuss in an informal way problems common to both students and faculty. The first meeting did not result in material action, but stimulated thought on the following subjects: assemblies, the dining hall, and T.N.T. The second conference dealt with an entirely new subject—the activities ticket, and from that discussion came the ground work for the finance committee's budgeting of the 1938-1939 ticket. It is hoped that next year these meetings will be extended both as to number of meetings and number of people attending.

CONVENTION . . . The building of more friendly relations with students of other schools is another of the Council's aims. This year's convention of the Illinois Association of High School Student Councils was held at New Trier. Over sixty-five schools were represented; four hundred delegates from all over the state attended. Pledge cards were handed out through adviser rooms to take care of the housing of delegates for the night they were to be here. The response was excellent, more homes being offered than were needed. On Friday night there was a banquet for the delegates and their hosts, followed by a business meeting and then a dance. Through panel discussions, speakers, and numerous group meetings, the delegates were able to exchange ideas on the management of student councils. At the meeting to elect officers of the state association, Patty Chancellor of New Trier was elected state secretary.

HOBBY SHOW . . . part of the Council's project to encourage extra-curricular activities, was begun last year. Presented the night of one of the P.T.A. meetings it gave parents as well as students an opportunity to see the projects of many of the clubs. In addition to the hobbies, the rhythms group and the new choral speaking group gave a program. Not only did the show exhibit the work of the clubs; it also displayed many projects that are not represented in New Trier's after-school program, but are individual hobbies and collections of students.

GIRLS' CLUB . . . When the Girls' club was founded eighteen years ago under Miss Wright's guidance, its purpose was to promote friendship among the girls of New Trier and to give financial aid to girls who needed it. Through the years of its existence, the club has successfully carried out these aims in addition to many others. We are proud to say that the year 1937-1938 has equaled those before it. The girls of New Trier, all members of Girls' Club, have continued the fine work of their predecessors.

MISS WRIGHT

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

SCHOLARSHIPS . . . Each year the Girls' Club gives ten or more scholarships in order that girls may have financial aid at New Trier and later in college. For this purpose money is raised during the entire year. Any girl is eligible to apply for one of these scholarships.

TEAS . . . Throughout the year the Girls' Club holds many teas to promote friendliness at New Trier. The first in each year is the Freshman-Senior tea to help the freshmen get acquainted, and a little later the annual tea for new upperclassmen. In the spring there is a tea for the faculty.

HOT DOG SALES . . . The first money-making project of the year is the sale of hot dogs at all the football games. The girls on the various committees plus upperclass volunteers make, as well as sell, hot dogs for the home games. The all time record was made at the Oak Park game when 1800 hot dogs were sold.

MAGAZINE DRIVE . . . One of the most tangible things any girl can do for the Girls' Club is to sell magazine subscriptions. Each subscription brings the scholarship fund a percentage and this year $750 was earned. The drive officially lasts for two weeks in the fall but subscriptions are taken all year.

BASKETS . . . In cooperation with the Tri-Ship, baskets are sent to local families at Christmas and Thanksgiving. Each adviser room is responsible for filling a basket. Some final additions are made out of the clubs' funds and then they are delivered.

TENNESSEE MOUNTAIN DRIVE . . . In addition to the regular Christmas drive, the Girls' and Tri-Ship clubs sponsored a campaign to send clothes, food and medical supplies to the Tennessee mountains. The girls were entirely responsible for the Christmas of a home for children in one of the most poverty stricken areas.

BANQUETS . . . Two banquets were given this year; one, the Friendly Banquet only for girls, and the other, the traditional Mother-Daughter banquet. The Friendly banquet was introduced last year and was so popular that it has become a regular part of the club's program. It was so well attended this year that more than one may be planned in the future.

The banquet for the mothers was the largest in the history of the club. The entertainment was planned by the girls as it was for the Friendly dinner, but it was climaxed with a fashion show given by a group of mothers and their daughters showing the clothes of 1912, modeled by the mothers, and those of 1938, modeled by the daughters.

CARD PARTY . . . The biggest event on the club's calendar this year was the Card Party. Given every other year, a change was made in the usual plans by holding it in the evening so that the fathers as well as the mothers of the community could attend. Many prizes and delicious refreshments made the evening an enjoyable one.

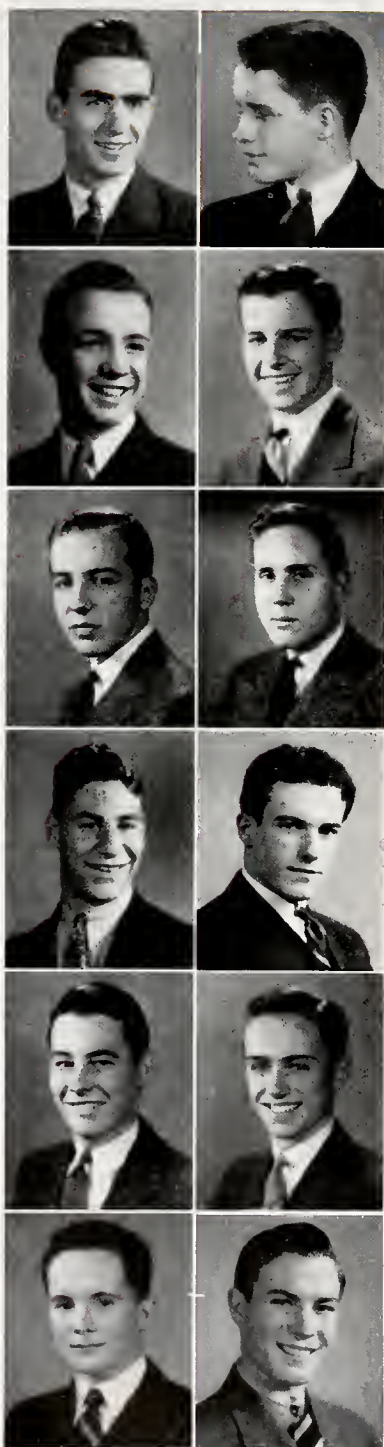

CLUB ROOM . . . The Girls' Club room is one of the most important factors in the organization of the club. Equipped with a kitchenette and well furnished, the club room is the hub of many of the club's activities. It is used by almost every organization in school during the year, and to it this year has been added a new combination radio and victrola.

MISS WRIGHT . . . Too much credit cannot be given Miss Wright, our sponsor, for it is mainly to her guidance and understanding that the club's success is due. The scholarships that are given each year are material evidence of achievement, but the pleasure that is gained from working in Girls' Club with Miss Wright is evidence of an even greater achievement.

TRI-SHIP . . . This last has been a successful year for Tri-Ship. In furthering its ideals of sportsmanship, fellowship, and citizenship, Tri-Ship has been an important factor in the development of New Trier boys. In raising funds to help the needy of its high school and of its community, it has more than equaled its established reputation. In using its facilities and organization in co-operation with faculty groups, various departments, and other clubs, it has strengthened the ties that make it an integral part of New Trier.

Speaker at
Father-Son Banquet

DANCES . . . There were six of them. Through the selection of popular orchestras and through the promotion of novelty dances, the dance committee was able to give a large number of dances without suffering a drop in attendance. An immense crowd attended the "Hen Hop," for which the girls did the dating. The "Try-Ship," at which program dancing and novel cut-in systems were tested, received favorable comment.

THE USHER CORPS . . . with its active season, enlarged its scope. Stepping outside the boundaries of plays, banquets, swimming meets, freshman nights, and graduation, this group of senior and junior boys ushered for community organizations. At the end of the year, the annual usher corps party at Old Heidelberg proved a fitting climax to its year of activity.

BUSINESS MANAGERS . . . fulfilling the duties of a new Tri-Ship office, sold tickets and made arrangements for dances, lectures, and other Tri-Ship activities. Tri-Ship lent its business organization to the music department, to promote ticket sales for the opera and the spring concert, and to the faculty drama club, to sell tickets for the faculty play. Since last year's arrangement, selecting a different student to manage each of the club's programs proved inefficient, the new positions on the executive board were created late last year.

THE CLUB ROOM . . . furnished with the most up-to-date equipment, has been much in demand for after-school meetings of various clubs. In the club room, the members of visiting athletic teams, with members of N. T.'s team, were treated to refreshments after the game by the interscholastic relations committee. These informal gatherings have helped in a tangible way to promote good will between New Trier and neighboring schools.

STUDENT AID . . . in the form of books, gym equipment, train and lunch tickets, and scholarships was supplied by Tri-Ship to boys who without this help could not remain in school. Besides distributing food, toys, and clothing to local relief societies at Thanksgiving and Christmas, the student aid committee sent school supplies, clothing, and first-aid materials to the Tennessee mountain poor.

BOB BARTLETT . . . one of the most unique characters the club has ever brought to N. T., gave in March two lectures illustrated with moving pictures taken in the far North. His afternoon lecture appealed especially to grammar school students, while his evening lecture was well fitted to the likes of an adult audience.

TWO RADIOS . . . for use in all classes, were bought by Tri-Ship, so that various departments could test the worth of educational radio programs. If the faculty finds that these radios can be used to supplement class work, more will be bought in future years.

TWO DINNERS . . . which encouraged that spirit of friendliness and cooperation which is so necessary for the club's success, were given during the year. At the athletic dinner in the fall, Ralph Cannon, of the Daily News sports staff, was featured on the program. Harry Stuhldreher, athletic director and head football coach at the University of Wisconsin, proved to be the highlight of the Father-Son Banquet.

THE SPORTS CARNIVAL . . . presented jointly by Tri-Ship and the athletic department, displayed to the people of the township the extensive intramural program offered at New Trier. The finals of most of the intramural tournaments were played off before a large and enthusiastic crowd.

THE TRI-SHIP CUP . . . awarded each year to the boy who, as determined by a vote among the boys, best exemplifies the club's ideals, went to James Olin.

"FRIZ" . . . Each year two hundred and fifty old members leave the club and three hundred new ones take their place. And yet the club feels no bad effect. Each year an inexperienced group of officers find they have years of experience in the handling of the club, through their faculty sponsor, Mr. Frisbie. From him they inherit the spirit and experience necessary for the club's function.

That the News has been improved this year is not disputed, but just how this was accomplished, no one, not even the editors, can say. Ruth Clarke's "Type Tripe" was perhaps one of the most popular features, and Dick La Bonte's "Noose" snared most of the current jokes. The "Soapbox" and its off-spring, "Down From the Tower," dealt with current issues and sidelights and aroused considerable interest. But by far the most popular feature of the News was its new, larger size. This year's News surpassed any paper published continuously at New Trier in amount of space, and it was more popular than ever before.

The special sixteen-page issue for the State Student Council Convention and the campaign against cut-in dancing were the high-lights of the News this year. Coverage of school events was not neglected, and it can truly be said that the News fulfilled its avowed purpose of constructive suggestion and unification of the student body.

Despite the fact that a school newspaper is narrowly limited as to editorial policy and scope of news, many people feel that the News has abandoned being a "puff sheet" only, and has become a well balanced and vigorous publication.

HARSHAW BURLINGHAM

Many changes have been made in the ECHOES this year, each with a definite purpose.

SIZE . . . The page has been enlarged to the size of college annuals—9 by 12 inches. This was done to secure advantages in page make-up. The extra space, amounting to about 5,000 square inches, has been used chiefly for additional pictures.

CIRCULATION . . . A new high was reached this year in circulation, the 1800 mark being reached before the book went to press. This was due chiefly to a successful new plan of utilizing the student fee bill for full payment for the book. Most students took advantage of this arrangement, thus eliminating a good deal of bookkeeping. The installment plan was continued for those who preferred to pay in that way. More faculty members subscribed than in previous years.

ADVERTISING . . . In spite of the business recession, advertising receipts totaled well over nine hundred dollars, a record only once before equaled. This was due to Sam Smart's well-organized staff and program, as well as to an increase in advertising rates. For those who did not wish to place a large advertisement, a patron's list was put in this year's book.

ART . . . One of the outstanding features of the 1938 ECHOES is the much enlarged caricature section by Dick LaBonte. It is expected that this will prove to be one of the most popular sections of the book. The color figurines by Marge Arnold, Jane Strom and Jean Miller on the division pages and throughout the body of the book are valuable contributions, as is the end sheet by George Lundy. The baby pictures and the class prophecy pages by Tom Wilcox add greatly to the humor of the book.

ACADEMICS . . . Previous to this year the ECHOES has made little mention of the various academic departments, and no attempt has been made to coordinate them with clubs. In this year's academic division, the departments and the clubs sponsored by each department are combined, making one compact, unified section.

MONTHS . . . In another innovation, the months section, a brief review of the 1937-1938 school year is pictorially presented. With snapshots of some of the outstanding events, plus a complete list of the other happenings, the entire year can be called to mind at a glance.

T.N.T. is New Trier's award to students whose service, activity, and leadership have been outstanding. The name T.N.T. stands for the Latin phrase Tenax, Nobilis, Triumphans (steadfast, noble, triumphant). Miss Hadden and Mr. Windoes are the sponsors.

In the spring of the year the active members of T.N.T. vote upon the twenty-six seniors and twelve juniors to be admitted, their vote being based upon the recommendations of the deans, the club sponsors, the advisers, and adviser chairmen.

ENSEMBLES . . . To climax a year of local appearances and an increased number of radio engagements, the ensembles sang at the National Music Convention in St. Louis. Their performance was received so well by the audiences of the country's best music teachers that hopes for annual excursions to the music conventions have been aroused.

CHOIR . . . Made up of a mixed group of the most outstanding voices in New Trier, the choir made several public appearances during the year, and ended its season by singing, according to custom, at commencement.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT . . . All the choral groups, as well as the orchestra participated, and the concert again formed a high spot in the township's holiday celebration. This year, the concert was made even more impressive by placing the chorus on the stage of the large gym and by new sound reflectors. Thus a larger number of people than ever before were able to hear the concert.

SPRING FESTIVAL . . . The climax of the year in the music department was the spring festival presented on May 24 to an enthusiastic audience. Every member of the musical organizations participated. The proceeds went to the scholarship funds of the Tri-Ship and Girls' Club.

THE SENIOR MUSIC CLUB . . . is made up of students proficient either with a musical instrument or in vocal ability. Students are accepted only after tryouts before the standing members. Meetings are held every other week and programs are presented by the members with an occasional outside speaker. Officers this year were: Franny Akely, president; Jean Miller, vice-president; Bob Fuessle, secretary; and Dick Roth, treasurer.

THE JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB . . . has had a very successful and enjoyable year. The club was very versatile and had a wide variety of instruments as well as several outstanding singers. The annual initiation, or Stunt Night, was definitely a success. The more dignified and formal Parents Night, held in June, culminated all the musical efforts of the year.

MUSICALE . . . After the Carnegie grant of over 600 records was made to New Trier, there naturally arose the question of how these recordings could be made accessible to those interested in hearing them. In response to numerous requests, the Musicale was formed. This club is in charge of Marjorie Hultgren and Mrs. Kidd. Though not dedicated exclusively to programs of recordings, it meets the needs of those who love music but are not necessarily engaged in the study of an instrument.

GLEE CLUBS, CHORUSES . . . With over 800 students active in the music department there are many organizations to which they may belong. Voices are assigned to part and organization in the freshman year and their development closely watched. Beginning in the choruses students are gradually shifted into the higher groups until the top groups, the opera, glee clubs, and the choir are reached.

THE ORCHESTRA . . . added greatly to all the Dramatic Club presentations by rendering lovely overture and intermission music. Appearing also at the Christmas and Spring Concerts it presented many beautiful pieces of its own as well as accompanying the combined choral groups. One of the biggest tasks of the year was the orchestral work in connection with the "Chimes of Normandy." This called for long hours of rehearsal along with the principals and choruses.

THE BAND . . . under the direction of Mr. Schumacher continued its schedule of playing at all of the football and basketball games as well as at the all-school assemblies. It also appeared at various community and civic functions. One of its largest events was the Annual Band Concert. This concert, the twentieth of its kind, marked the twentieth year of Mr. Schumacher's service to New Trier.

Chimes of Normandy

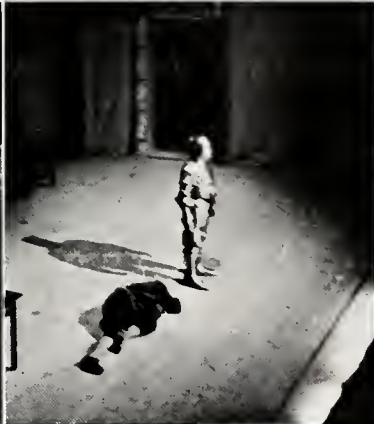

OPERA . . . During the second semester the energies of most of the department, combined with those of the dramatics coaches and stage crew, were directed toward the presentation of the traditional opera. This year Planquette's "The Chimes of Normandy" was chosen for presentation. The end of the first semester found the principals selected, and soon the choruses were on the stage, marching up and down, and doing other necessary things under the direction of the tireless coaches. The two weeks following spring vacation were filled with endless rehearsals, and finally the completed opera emerged from a disconnected conglomeration of songs, dialogue, marching, and stage properties. The fruit of all this labor was given on the nights of April 29 and 30, when the opera was presented to the public. Its huge success was due not only to those who actually appeared on the stage, but to the concerted effort of many whose only reward was the knowledge of a job well done. To the latter especially, go the laurels for the excellent performance.

DRAMATICS . . . During the past year the Dramatic club has made a special effort to continue its recent policy of giving a greater number of interested students opportunity to take part in dramatic productions. One way of accomplishing this has been to give more plays and at least two performances of each play. The dramatic season has been noteworthy for the variety of plays presented.

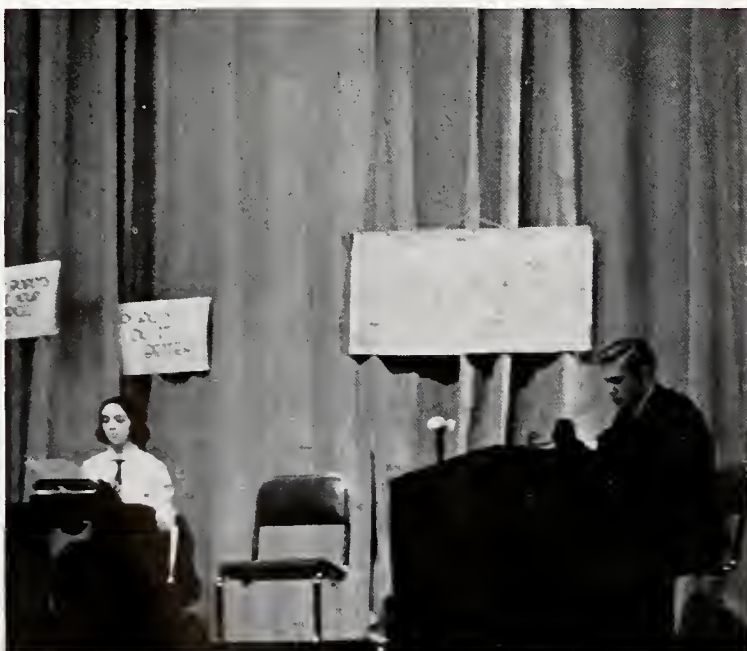

Aside from pleasant remarks on the quality of the acting, the directors received many compliments on the excellent manner in which the various productions were staged. Much credit is due to the efficient work of the several crews.

DRAMATIC CLUB . . . is made up of students who have taken part in plays sponsored by the club. It includes not only the members of the casts, but also the members of the various crews which aid in production. During the year, aside from presenting five plays to large audiences, the club had a number of very interesting meetings, the programs of which included amateur talent, as well as outside speakers and artists.

A new Dramatics course was offered this year for the purpose of giving instruction in the technique of acting. In the voice and diction classes, efforts were made to improve the quality of individual speech.

One of the new innovations in the dramatics department has been Miss Feeney's course in Choral Speaking. This class has been organized to teach students to recite poetry in chorus and achieve beautiful effects by vocal tones and modulation. The advantages to be gained from this class are better voice control and correct enunciation. There has recently been a movement toward choral speaking in the colleges. New Trier is one of the first high schools to take up this work.

THE PLAYERS GROUP . . . is composed of outstanding members of the Dramatic club, chosen by the directors to include those members who have shown the most consistent and constructive interest in dramatics. This year they presented W. E. Barry's breathless melodrama, "The Jade God."

TWO FALL PLAYS . . . were presented this year. The first, "The Cradle Song," was given at matinee and evening performances on November 10. "R.U.R." followed on the evenings of November 19 and 20. These plays differed greatly; "The Cradle Song" was a quiet, peaceful, story based on the beauty and simplicity of life in a convent; "R.U.R." on the other hand, dealt with the future and showed a completely mechanized society.

THE SENIOR PLAY . . . Booth Tarkington's comedy classic, "Clarence," was given on March 19 and 20. This play concerns an ex-soldier who becomes a house servant in a slightly crazy, too wealthy family, and who later turns out to be a beetle expert. Two problem children, a boy and a girl of high school age, provide much of the humor and the many involved situations in the play. The whole family admires Clarence, especially the governess. He straightens out everyone's problems and then runs away to marry the governess. There were three performances, and in an effort to establish a precedent which would make the annual senior play more significant the audience was encouraged to come in formal attire. After the play a reception was held in the dining hall.

THE FROSH-SOPH PLAYERS . . . closed a very successful dramatic season by presenting Brook's "Wappin' Wharf," an interesting comedy dealing with pirates who take possession of a lighthouse as a base for their operations. "Wappin' Wharf" was given by a Freshman cast on June 3 and a Sophomore cast on the following night.

THE BROADCASTING CLUB . . . Selecting its members by qualifying tests, the Broadcasting Club maintained a large but active membership. Various groups read radio skits, complete with sound effects, to develop dramatic ability and improve their microphone technique. When Dr. Mesner of the Columbia studios spoke to the club, the members learned about the creation of a radio program. A trip to see the "First Nighter" program was a highlight of the year.

CREWS . . . The stage crew, under the direction of Mr. Harper, has charge of making the shifts in scenery between the acts of the play and it is the speed and experience of these boys that make for continuity in the play. The Light Crew, under Mr. Jones, is responsible for the excellent lighting effects. The Properties Crew has an unlimited ability in providing the difficult special "props."

Miss Genevieve D. Dixon, Miss Eleanor R. Libbey, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Todd.

This year the remains of the old swimming locker room were turned into a vocational reference room especially for use of Juniors in writing long themes. Plans for turning the old swimming pool into study halls are rapidly progressing. A new librarian has made possible the building up of a fine pamphlet collection on current topics.

The library assistants, under a new plan, now receive school credit for their work in the various sections of the library. A special advanced course in library training has been provided for those planning library work as a vocation or for those wishing to work in their college libraries.

A new course in Radio Appreciation was begun this year, headed by Mrs. Smith. The pupils in this class used the public address system in the auditorium to give programs, one of which was the Lincoln and Washington memorial skit. The course will probably be continued. All the courses previously organized were continued.

Several new members have been added to the English faculty this year, in addition, Mr. Frank Johnstone of Ayr, Scotland, was an exchange teacher in the place of Mr. Stanley Peterson who is teaching at Ayr, Scotland.

THE QUILL CLUB . . . was organized under the sponsorship of Mrs. Cook for the underclassmen interested in writing. Besides spending many interesting and enjoyable afternoons this year in composing and reading original literature, the members were entertained and educated by several guest speakers. Among these were Mr. Walter M. Sutherland, city editor of the Chicago Eve-

THE SCRIBLERUS CLUB . . . is the senior writing club of New Trier. It was designed to encourage writing among its members and to stimulate an interest in the literary pursuits of others, both amateurs and professionals. The fortnightly meetings are of two types: the work of members is reviewed with kindly, helpful criticism once a month, while at the alternate meetings guest speakers talk on various phases of writing.

Born four years ago, Inklings has been progressing healthily to the great pleasure of its staff and readers. Inklings is New Trier's gift to young authors. Contributions of poetry and prose are carefully judged by the staff and only the best ones win their way to publication in the magazine.

Each year the staff asks for suggestions for the improvement of Inklings. Type, headings, paper, and cover designs are changed as often as seems desirable to make a more readable and attractive magazine.

Published twice a year, financed by the Activities ticket and by outside subscriptions, the Inklings has been increasingly interesting because of its various subjects and styles — original verse forms, satires, and editorial dissertations, coupled with humorous essays and book reviews, make up its main literary appeal.

The Inklings staff is guided by faculty sponsors from the English department. In addition, the Art department submits the drawings which are used for the cover design, and as illustrations for stories and poems.

Back of Inklings, however, lies the support of the students who contribute to the magazine and buy it.

Debate

DWYER SCHUMAN
Winners of Public Speaking Class
Contest in Oratory

Starting from where they left off last year, a quartette of seasoned debaters brought additional distinction to New Trier. The 1938 team won the La Porte invitational tournament; won the title in the Big Twelve Inter-State Debate League; placed in the finals at the Hammond tournament; placed second in the sub-district of the state meet; tied for second at the district meet; and got to the second round of the N.F.L. tournament.

The question debated by the high schools was "Resolved: That the several states should adopt a unicameral system of legislature." Bob Matthews and Dick Lehman upheld the affirmative, while Bob Gruhn and Clifford Goodman held down the negative side. Other debaters included Herbert Steinberger and Marshall Regen on the affirmative, and Wilcox Hodgkins, Joe Graf, George Yetter, and Pete Oliver on the negative.

All four first-string debaters achieved distinction in the National Forensic League. To procure this honor a debater must gain at least 100 points in interscholastic debate. New Trier is one of the few schools of the nation who can boast four men with this degree of distinction.

GAVEL CLUB... 1937 marked the tenth anniversary of the Gavel Club. It was organized in the hope that it would provide a foundation for debate at New Trier by creating interest in forensics. Accordingly the activity of the club has taken the form of informal panel discussions coupled with numerous talks given by guest speakers, thus affording the members study and practice in the methods of debate and speech. The officers were Joe Palmer Graf, president; Peter Bachrach, vice-president; Jean Reichman, secretary, and Dick Lehman, treasurer.

CHESS CLUB... Formed for chess enthusiasts, under the sponsorship of Mr. Schumacher, the club now has a well-equipped club room. An annual tournament is held, but the members spend many hours playing just for enjoyment while developing concentration and patience. Regular meetings are held twice a month.

Science

The science department does much to give students a general knowledge of nature and the world around us. There are several well-equipped laboratories, and there is a possibility that in a few years we may have a greenhouse built in the M.E. court.

The Science department felt greatly, as did the entire school, the loss of Louis E. Hildebrand, who passed away September 12, 1937. In his memory, the Science museum is to be completely renovated and dedicated to him on September 12, 1938. A bronze tablet is to be placed in a small bay window of the museum.

RADIO CLUB . . . With new and more powerful equipment the club's station, W9EDC, kept in almost constant contact with other stations throughout the world. Trips to the R.C.A. institute and the N.B.C transmitting station, as well as talks by prominent engineers, made worthwhile programs. Eight licensed operators helped their fellow members train for license examinations.

LENS CLUB . . . The club's one hundred and ninety members sponsored a photographic salon, two dark room demonstrations, numerous sound movies, and talks by north shore photographers. They decorated their dark room and equipped it with a new enlarger. An experiment in color photography was another of the club's projects.

The club's notorious party, featuring student talent, set a new high in club parties.

Third Row: Landis, Stange, Wetzel, Wilder, Georger, Harvey, Matthews, Kelly, Epon, Allen.

NAUTICAL CLUB . . . To study marlinspike seamanship and signalling, the members of the Nautical Club visited the coast guard station, the naval training station, and a shipyard. More first hand information was obtained from a weekend cruise on the "Albatross" and from a sailing race.

First Row: Miss Frances J. Flentye, Mrs. Mabel C. Hildebrand, Miss Anne S. Stewart, Miss Elsa E. Karst, Miss Elizabeth L. Breidenbach, Miss Virginia B. Donham, Miss Frances A. Breden, Miss Mary Helen Paul, Miss Ella M. Shaw.

Foreign Languages

Since the annual enrollment in foreign language courses is always increasing, it is not surprising that the department broadens its field each year. During the past year, Mr. Holland gave lectures on foreign art and Mrs. Kidd conducted classes in foreign music, so that students could better understand the culture of the people whose languages they were studying. Large groups were encouraged to attend foreign movies and plays presented by theaters in Chicago and on the north shore.

A new console machine, with new records, and apparatus for still and motion pictures, have been added to the department's equipment.

FRENCH CLUB . . . With Miss Frances Bredin as sponsor, the French Club has had many interesting programs at its semi-monthly meetings. Several meetings were conducted almost entirely in French by the president, Jane Penberthy. Among the programs planned by Margaret Stoetzel, vice-president, and Miss Bredin were several plays given by students of the Foreign Language department at N.U., a talk given by Dr. Bickham of Wilmette on the vocational possibilities of foreign languages, plays given by N.T. students, and several travel talks. A group of about thirty students enjoyed seeing "Tovarich" on the stage in French.

The officers were greatly assisted this year by the French Club Board, which included Marjorie Bellows, Elaine Chittick, Josephine Russo, Nancy Olson, Barbara Lewis, and Charlotte Feaman. The membership in the club was about 100, the largest it has ever been.

SPANISH CLUB . . . The visit of Senorita Isabel Emanuelli, of Porto Rico, was the highlight of the Spanish club's year. Motion pictures, travel talks, and songfests provided the club's members with an interesting way to increase their appreciation of Latin America and the Spanish tongue.

GERMAN CLUB . . . Gala song fests, illustrated travel talks, and German plays have filled the programs of the German Club during the past year. At the Christmas party and at its meetings, the members strengthened their ability to speak German and broadened their interest in Germany and its language.

Social Studies

Two important projects are sponsored by the Social Studies department each year, one each semester. The first semester project was a dramatization of the Constitutional Convention, celebrating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution. This mock convention was directed jointly by the Social Studies and Dramatic Departments, and was enacted with great verisimilitude.

In the second semester there was a panel discussion between Maine, Highland Park and New Trier on the Foreign Policy of the United States, which was extremely interesting.

In February one of the United States History classes put on a special broadcast over the School loudspeaking system on Lincoln's birthday, dramatizing some of the famous incidents from his life.

There have been several special displays in the Historical Museum, room 344. One consisted of early tools loaned by Mr. Oaks. There was also a coin collection loaned by one of the students and an early American collection, gathered together by one of Mr. Frisbie's classes. There have been several new gifts to the collection. The coin collection has been put in order; several new models made by students have been added, and Mr. Cooke has loaned several more exhibits.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB . . . An interesting development in the Social Science department was the International Relations Club, an informal discussion group. Sponsored by Mr. Gannaway and having Bob Levings as president, this group met after school hours to discuss international questions with the League of Nations as a foundation topic.

ARCHAEOLOGY CLUB

First Row: Kagan, Bickham (president), Kimbell (co-sponsor), Lehman (co-sponsor), Kidd (co-sponsor), McMillan (secretary-treasurer), Gary.
Second Row: Toogood, Boone, McGuire, Hurley, Pratt, Jorjorian, Howett.

STAMP CLUB

Second Row: Pancoe, Wright.
Third Row: Ives, Rounsfull, Strauch, Trillich, Steinberger, Bourgerie.

ARCHAEOLOGY CLUB . . . The members of the Archaeology Club are students who have expressed an interest in archaeology either as a hobby or as a future vocation. The meetings of the club are held in the history museum where a great deal of material on archaeology is right at hand. The programs consist of talks and reports by members or outside speakers such as Mr. Leslie L. Cook, donor of the Central American exhibits in the museum. One of the favorite activities of the club is taking field trips to places of archaeological interest.

STAMP CLUB . . . The New Trier Stamp Club, composed of about 25 members, is organized for those students who are stamp enthusiasts. At the semi-monthly meetings the members trade specimens and inspect the collections of others. Several auctions were held this year. In April each year an annual stamp exhibit is held, and many members show their collections at the Hobby Show.

Art

FACULTY

First Row: Mrs. Marie A. Holland, Miss Catherine M. Murphy (department head), Mrs. Henrietta O. Brander.

Second Row: Mr. Robert A. Harper, Mr. Frank E. Holland.

Throughout the past year the art department has done a fine job of making the school art conscious. One of the outstanding projects has been the continuance of the exhibits of paintings, sketches, and photographs that have been hung in the main corridor. The exhibits were changed twice a month. New Trier is distinguished as one of the few high schools to provide art appreciation of such caliber to the entire student body.

A blue ribbon was awarded to the group of sketches and paintings which was exhibited in the Illinois Wesleyan contest of student art. At Notre Dame's salon the efforts of New Trier students won second honors in the painting division.

Among the well-known people in the art world who spoke at New Trier were: Marya Werton, director of school art in Poland; Mr. Arthur Tracy, a sculptor from Canada; Mr. Carl Scheffler, head of the Evanston Academy of Fine Arts; and Moholy Nagy, celebrated director of the new bauhaus of the American School of Design.

Early in the year, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Holland, an after-school sketch club was organized for those students interested in doing extra art work.

The commerce courses are designed to give students a good general education, and to prepare them to manage their personal business in later years. Five business courses are offered, in addition to typewriting and penmanship. There is a general business course for students wishing elementary information in the management of financial affairs. A clerical course is offered in preparation for clerical work in offices. For those who wish to go into merchandising and store management, a course in merchandising is offered. Stenography is available to those who wish an introduction to the courses of the same type offered in business college, or students planning to take a four-year course in a commerce school. All of the commerce courses are open to students in other departments, as electives. Such courses as typing and shorthand are highly valuable in college. Miss Daisy Wright, an exchange teacher from England taught in the place of Miss Flemington.

COMMERCE CLUB . . . Since the purpose of the Commerce Club is to promote social activities as well as educational programs among its members, the organization gave two successful parties during the year. Interesting speakers, and films on commercial subjects, filled the many educational programs. At the main meeting of the year, honor division emblems were awarded to all members who the commerce faculty felt could be recommended for business positions. The club has an Honor Division membership which is conferred by the teachers on those who have shown exceptional ability in business subjects for a period of at least a year.

Manual Education

Manual Education offers courses in shop work for future engineering students and those students not intending to go to college.

There are courses in mechanical drawing, woodwork, and machine shop. Mechanical drawing is open to boys and girls. For those not interested in engineering, a two-semester course in "General Drawing" is offered. Then there is a course in Architectural drawing of two semesters, and a course in Engineering drawing which may be taken for as many as four semesters. There are elementary Freshman courses in woodwork, and more advanced work in the sophomore year. Machine Shop IV is offered for pre-engineering students. This course includes machine shop practice, aviation mechanics, and elementary flight practice.

First Row: Mrs. Jane W. Lighter (department head), Mrs. Clarice R. McWilliams, Miss Irma M. Moschel.

Standing: Miss Henrietta O. Brander, Miss Ritta Whittescl.

Home Economics

Courses in interior decorating, foods, and clothing are offered by the department. Practical application of these studies is made possible by the department's completely furnished apartment. A fashion show was given to supplement the clothing classes. The food classes invited the faculty to dinner. Mrs. McWilliams and Miss Whittescl were new teachers this year.

Health

This department is one of the most important in the school. It was established to handle emergency cases, but now it also takes charge of physical examinations and safety campaigns. The largest project sponsored by the Health Department this year, with the co-operation of township physicians, was the tuberculosis testing. Tests were offered to all students free of charge but were not compulsory. A large percentage of the student body took the tests, which consisted of a simple arm injection. Those whose tests proved positive were given X-rays for a more thorough test. This was a fine example of the interest with which the school and village authorities watch the students' health.

Third Row: Isbister, Crowder, Bellows, Jost, Miller, Cummiskey, White, Hoyne, Chancellor, Krueger, Pearre, King.

SERVICE CLUB . . . The 48 members of Service Club are carefully chosen from the many applicants and from the time of their admission give many hours of service to the school. Each member spends at least two periods a week in the nurses' office, keeping records and helping in first aid cases. In addition to this they attend a Red Cross first aid class weekly.

ATHLETICS

The best of opportunities offered in all fields of athletics have made each team one of the outstanding accomplishments of the student body.

A team that looked as good on paper as any team that has ever played on Phelps fields, finished in a lowly fourth place in the Suburban league gridiron race. At the coming of warm weather last spring, over one hundred hopefuls demanded equipment from the ever-efficient Joe Schmidt. Among these were six letter-men and almost as many experienced players as will try to bring the Suburban league title to New Trier next year.

After two weeks of not too strenuous drill, the Gray-Green went into the Gary game with high morale. Expecting a fairly easy game, but actually getting very strong opposition, the Green team folded up under the powerful Gary eleven. Perhaps more important than the defeat itself was the injury to Capt. Wagner's ankle which handicapped his play throughout the season.

Completely dominating the game in the next encounter, N.T. downed Riverside 14-0 in a game that was much more one-sided than the score indicates. The heartbreaking game that put New Trier in low spirits was the next battle with Proviso. Outplaying Proviso in every phase of the game for the first fifty minutes, the Gray-Green were caught asleep on a couple of passes which put Proviso deep in N.T. territory. Penalties and another pass put the ball within easy scoring distance, and two plunges netted the touchdown that won.

Entering the Mooseheart game with the same light attitude that was displayed at Gary, N.T. almost lost this battle to a small, fast, and overfighting eleven. The first half of the next game at Morton saw the same sloppy play that characterized the Mooseheart game. It took a 97-yard run back of an intercepted pass by McFadzean to bring N.T. to life, and from then on the Green held the upper hand.

In the fourth quarter of the hard-fought Oak Park game, with the West-siders leading 7-0, N.T. opened up a passing attack which netted Oak Park two more touchdowns on interceptions. At one time in this game, with their backs to the goal, N.T. held the visitors for fourteen successive downs and then took the ball on downs.

An all-junior eleven, with exception of Chancellor at half and Moon at quarter, started the Highland Park game and gave promise of a strong '38 team. This game gave the loyal fans a chance to see what the team really could do on offense, the final score being 26-0. In the next game, a strong Waukegan eleven invaded Phelps field and left the premises in a happy mood. A team that N.T. should have tied if not beaten, dealt the Green a crushing 20-0 defeat. The season wind-up against Evanston at Dyche stadium was another game ruled by New Trier but in which it was unable to score.

The bulk of the end play was carried by John Thompson and Frank Sublett, whose toe did more to help N.T. than any other single thing. Three good performances were turned in by the tackling of Olin, Seifert and McNitt, while Coyne Koolish, and Terzakes held down the guard positions with their excellent play. The ever-reliable Captain-elect, Dick Reynolds, turned in another sterling season at center, bolstered by Raclin and Heinrichs. In the backfield the running of McFadzean and Marchini, Wagner's plunging and passing, and Drake's work at quarter took care of things very well. Backfield substitutions were found in Moon, Dewey, Carney, Chancellor, Powell, and Davis.

CAPTAIN LAUGHEAD

A group of candidates many of whom had never played in a scrimmage, not to mention a game, reported to Coach Funkhouser and his able assistants. To mold this group of generally inexperienced players into a football team that would know how to play the game, and play it fairly well, would have taken any coach more than the two short months that "Funky" had.

After two weeks of practice, really all the football that some of them had played, this bunch of inexperienced youngsters entered competition in a league that is tough for a good team with much more training. It is little wonder that the visible results are not bragged about. However, this team, which hardly knew what victory was, fought through the whole season, and enjoyed fighting for its own sake, for the game's sake, and for New Trier.

The captain, who was not only the nominal captain, but the real leader of the team, Gordy Laughead turned in a stellar season at one end. Bayard played at the opposite extremity. Risk, McNitt, Morkle, Dewey, and Redfield made the tackle position one of the strongest, while Sparky Whittingtop, Britain, Moon, Lang, and Rosenow held down the guard positions. Two excellent centers, Holland and Simpson, vied for the middle post throughout the season. The backfield was the scene of the most constant shifting of players with Horn, Gray, Miller, Sullivan, Quick, Rapp, Doolittle, Rothermel, and Ludica doing the playing.

New Trier's heavyweight basketball team did not come through the season as well as was expected. Hopes were high at the beginning of the season, and a Suburban league title visible, but due to some hard luck and lack of the final punch, the squad was only able to drag down a poor tie with Oak Park for fourth place.

In the regional tournament at Waukegan, the Gray-Green walked off with the honors. Arlington Heights, Palatine, and Waukegan fell to a rejuvenated New Trier five, giving New Trier the championship, and the right to go to Proviso for the sectional tournament. New Trier's good luck did not hold here for the Gray-Green were pitted against Glenbard in the first game. Glenbard's sharpshooting squad got rid of New Trier in short order, and went on to win the tourney.

After the football men came out, Reynolds and Marchini were the regular forwards. The steady Jim McFadzean and Jarv Lingle took over the guards with the ever-consistent Deacon at center. At the beginning of the second lap in the season, Co-captain Thompson played as a regular and was instrumental in winning several of the games, especially the Morton game when he sank two baskets in the overtime to win the encounter. Dick Reynolds, a junior, led the team in scoring with 156 points, placing second in league scoring. Co-captain Deacon proved to be the mainstay of the team with his steady play, finishing sixth in league scoring. McFadzean and Lingle were very effective in the guard positions because they could score and yet hold their men to surprisingly few baskets. Coach Grater found able substitutes in Carey and captain-elect Borre.

With one letter man returning the Frosh-Soph basketball team fought an up-hill battle this year. This inexperienced five won four of its league starts while dropping eight, to take a sixth place in the Suburban League.

The greater part of the season was spent in a search for a combination that would work successfully. In the first few games, Price, the only letterman, Baptista, Schaer, Borchardt, and Greenblatt were the starters. Except for Price and Borchardt who held their positions of forward and guard throughout the season, every post was filled by several different players. During mid-season, Hoefer held the odd guard position, but later shared it with Anderson, Fager, and Kreer. Towards the end of the season, White gained the forward starting post, and held it till the finish. Baptista, Schaer, and Dewey, a mid-season find, shared the pivot line, while Benson, Bowen, and Wilson substituted in the forward line.

Although N. T. finished sixth in the junior division of the Suburban League two of the Gray-Green forwards finished among the top sixth in the scoring column. "Andy" Price got himself a third by virtue of his well-trained hook shot, and White, who even outshone "Andy" in the last few games, dragged down sixth place in league scoring in spite of the fact that he played very little during the first few games. The steadiest player on the team was undoubtedly Borchardt, who could be counted on to turn in a good defensive game at any time. Baptista, Schaer, and Dewey seem to be headed for a varsity career.

Outstanding of the many freshmen returning to make next year's Frosh-Soph a threat to any team are Benson, Kreer, and Fager.

In the first meet of their season the Frosh-Sophs lost to Evanston 49-27. This meet, although lost, did not indicate Evanston's superiority because it was very early in the season and the Triermen beat the same team in a later duel. The youngsters downed Highland Park 24-12 and were victorious in a triangle meet with University High and Oak Park in the former's fieldhouse. In the return triangle held here, the Green were again victorious netting $41\frac{1}{3}$ to $33\frac{1}{3}$ for Oak Park and University getting the other $19\frac{1}{3}$. The Suburban League meet was a heartbreaker for the youngsters, who were nosed out by $\frac{2}{3}$ of a point by Oak Park after having defeated the same team in two triangles. However, with revenge for this defeat in their minds the Green pointed to win the outdoor championship and thus assert their supremacy.

The team was strong in that there were many contenders for the various events, all of whom were fairly good. Taking care of the dash were Laughead and Laubach, both of whom helped out in the relay. Hurdlers Warfield and Cosmer brought in many points, as did Simpson, Rich, and Anderson in the weight tossing. In the high jump was Brad Burnside who did 5' 6" with the greatest of ease. Helping him in this event was Sullivan, who was also prominent in pole vaulting. The broad jump was well taken care of by La Chapelle and Peterson, while Whittington helped Sullivan clear the bar in the pole vaulting. Sullivan has gone over ten feet and promises to go even higher. Dietrich and Miller, out to see that the 660 was not neglected, did very well at it. The relay teams did well due to the efforts of Cushman, Laubach, Burnside, Laughead, and La Chapelle. Dietrich, Sullivan, Jim Warfield, and Laubach also did some varsity running.

This year's varsity tankers, led by Captain Harry Shabino, very successfully completed their second season in the new pool. Carrying a much heavier schedule than ever before, the team chalked up nine wins against three losses.

Starting out just before Christmas vacation, five lopsided victories were won over Roosevelt, Morton, Alumni, Evanston, and Proviso before Maine's defending champs gave the Gray-Green their first defeat. Following closely on the heels of the first loss came another crushing blow from Lane Tech, state champions.

Mid-semester vacation brought an easy victory over Highland Park. The team's third defeat came at the hands of Shorewood, Wisconsin state champs. This final loss may be accredited to a long tiring trip, and the tankers' lack of ability to adapt themselves to a strange pool. Following the Shorewood meet came an easy victory over Waukegan and then an unexpected win over Massanutten. This team, which is one of the leading contenders for the National Prep School Championship, was rated to give their younger opponents quite a licking. As it was, the Gray-Green, bolstered by the overflowing spirit of Fred Henschel, went in the underdogs and came out the victors with a margin of five points. Then came a victory over Oak Park which cinched the Suburban League Championship.

Following Lane Tech by only seven points, the New Trier tankers made a very fine showing in the state meet. Both Lane and New Trier broke the four-year championship reign of Maine. Bill Drucker who placed fifth in the preliminaries came through to take a fine second in the back stroke. John Clark followed Drucker by taking second in the 100-yard free style. Undeclared for two years, Henschel broke the breast-stroke record by nearly two seconds. Jack Davis came through to win the diving on his optional dives.

This squad was without doubt the best team that New Trier has ever been able to put out. Winning in almost every event, the breast stroke and diving were the strongest. Henschel was undoubtedly the outstanding member of the team for without his overwhelming spirit and superior swimming the team could not possibly have been what it was. When the going was the toughest Fred never failed to come through and his work made everyone else do his best. Kingery, Henschel's mate in the breast stroke, was a valuable asset to the team in his capacity of bringing in many a much-needed point. Bill Drucker was the outstanding backstroker of the team, taking second in the Suburban and State meets. Jack Wiese, Co-captain of the Frosh-Soph, was Bill's leading rival on the team and he deserves a lot of credit for his work this year. Other point winners in this event were Bob Wiese and Phil Mallen.

Captain Harry Shabino, Evans Jasper, and Dick KixMiller swam the 200-yard free style, and although they were all very good men, the state competition proved too great for them.

The dash men were led by John Clark, last year's Frosh-Soph star, who won both the 50 and 100-yard races in the Suburban League meet and came through with an unexpected second in the state 100 and a fifth in the 50. Bob Bennett, the other Frosh-Soph Co-captain, was Johnnie's partner in the 50 while Vince Oatis was the team's second man in the 100.

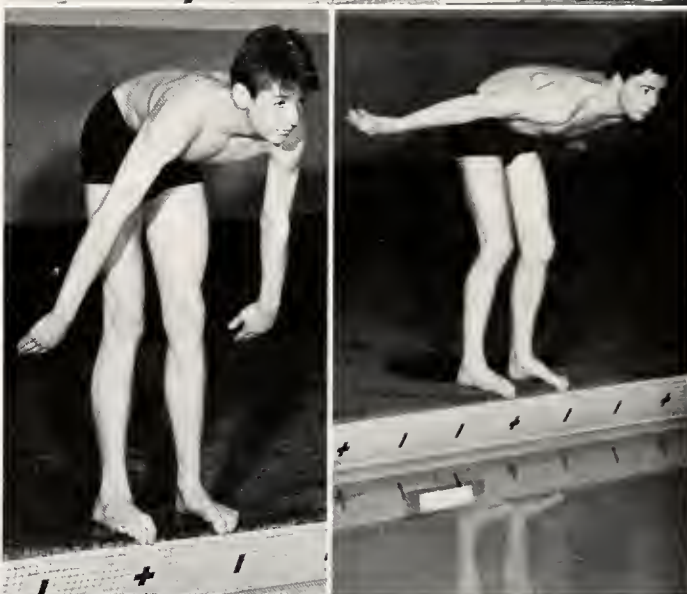

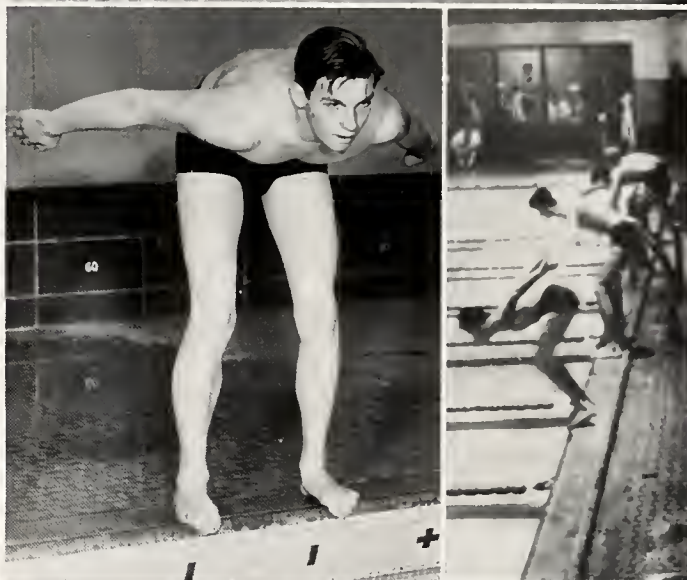

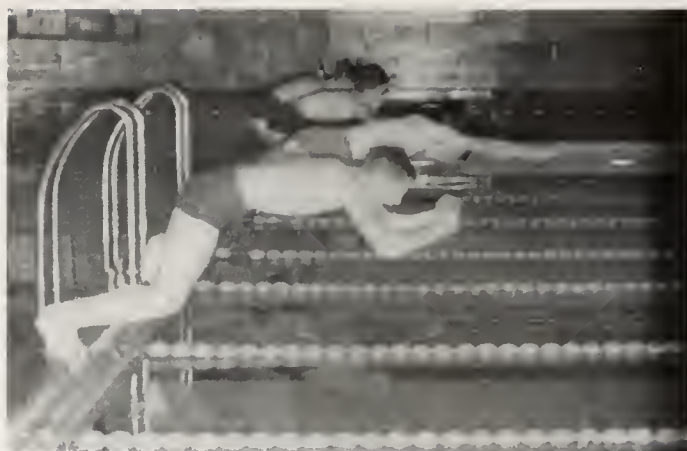

The 200-yard relay consisting of Ellis, Vernon, Menary, and Oatis came through as was expected taking first place in the league meet and with Gil Wymond taking Ellis' place, placing second in the state finals.

The 150-yard medley relay team of Jack Wiese, Fred Henschel, and Bob Bennett was another of the tankmen's strong points, winning both league and state meets and setting a new league record. Although this team did not break the state record, it showed itself able to do so in the Massenutten meet, swimming the distance in well under record time.

The divers, led by Jack Davis, were all good and never failed to take several points. Harry Molter and Jerry Horak were N. T.'s other divers.

But while credit is being given to the team, it must also be remembered that without a fine coaching staff, New Trier's victories would not be possible. Head-coach Jackson worked with the team constantly as did assistant swimming coach, Bud Happ, and diving coach Condon.

New Trier's one-year-old natatorium received a fine honor when it was chosen as the scene of the 1938 Big Ten swimming meet. The joint hosts for the annual swim classic, Northwestern and Chicago, found that Lake New Trier had more capacity for both swimmers and spectators than either of their pools.

The 1937-38 Frosh-Soph swimming squad was without doubt the finest junior team that the Suburban League has ever seen. It won every dual meet including the ones against the outstanding teams of Maine and Lane; it won the Suburban League meet, winning every event, and setting a new record in each.

The 200 yard relay team consisting of Mahle, Jones, Lippincott, and Ball, was outstanding as was the medley team of co-captain Jack Wiese, Al Cobb, and Chuck Ball.

The 50 and 75 yard free style events were in the capable hands of co-captain Bob Bennett, who was ably assisted by Paul Sullivan and Jack Menary.

Al Cobb, sophomore breast stoker, could always be counted on for a first, while Dick Buenger was invariably right behind.

Co-captain Jack Wiese was by far the outstanding backstroker in the league, while Dick Idler and Rollie Williams were consistent point winners in this event.

New Trier's divers were very strong, taking the first three places in the league meet with Joe Bayard, Ross Williams, and Steve Rothermel finishing in that order.

Both co-captains, Bob Bennett and Jack Wiese, were awarded major letters for their fine performances as varsity swimmers, as was Jack Menary who became a varsity man at the mid-year. Bennett and Wiese were members of the varsity medley team which won the state championship.

The '38 baseball team finished one of the most successful years in New Trier's diamond history, with an even record of seven wins and seven losses. However, the team did not make as good a showing in the tough competition of the Suburban League, winning only three out of ten games. The non-league games against Niles Center, Arlington, and Loyola were all won by the Gray-Green.

Suburban League victories were won over Evanston and Oak Park, and although the other league games were lost, only one was lost by more than three runs. In every game, whether winning or losing, the Gray-Green always gave their opponents a stiff battle.

In the first game of the season, every position except catcher was filled by a junior, with Captain Crawford working behind the bat. Jim Dewey at short-stop, Earl Borre at first, and Jack and Bob Davis on the mound, were the only other players who held their positions throughout the season. Sauer did most of the work at the hot corner, but was relieved for a time by Bruschini who also played catcher and second base, holding the latter job for the greater part of the season. In the outfield, Bonner, Hanson, Jack Davis, Watt, Herman and Thompson held the assignments from time to time.

Coach Grater found able substitutions in Rounsfull and Durr in the infield, Lyman in the garden, and Bill McNitt as a relief pitcher. In his only complete game of the season, Bill turned in a three-hit performance. Most consistent hitters on the team were Dewey, Borre, Bonner, and Jack Davis. Although three Suburban League pitchers boast no-hit games, New Trier was never held hitless, and suffered but one shut-out.

With the abundance of junior first string material, next year's team should certainly end up near the top of the pile in the Suburban League, if not champs. The two first hurlers on this year's squad, the two Davises, will return to make the pitching staff one of the strongest ever. Al Bruschini will probably do the receiving and can be helped by Bonner. At third will be Dick Sauer, at short Jim Dewey, Rounsfull at second, and Borre at first. Among the candidates for outfield posts, Bonner leads the field and is assured of a berth by virtue of his batting ability. Hanson will probably be in the garden, as will Jack Davis when he is not working on the mound. All in all, next year's prospects are very bright.

When Coach Sandvig's 1937 first string advanced to hold down all but one of the first string berths on the varsity, "Sandy" was faced with the task of shaping a new team from a totally inexperienced squad. Out of the first seven games this green bunch won three while losing four, a fairly successful record for a team with as little game-experience as this one had had.

The team's great problem was in developing a good pitcher. Bob Dewey turned out to be the best of the bunch which included Fager, Dean, Redfield, and Doolittle. However, Dewey's superior playing at third base led "Sandy" to use the others as much as possible. The rest of the infield was composed of Lindberg at short-stop, Mel White at second, Schaer at first, with Quick behind the bat. The out-field posts were held most of the season by Olsen, Bayard, and Maller.

Outstanding hitter on this year's team was short-stop Lindberg who batted .333 for the better part of the season. White was the only other consistent hitter who could be counted on for a hit in each game.

The golf team entered the season with a record of which few teams in the country could boast. They had been undefeated since May, 1935, when they lost to Evanston. Besides conquering almost all opponents in the dual matches, New Trier's golf teams won the Suburban League match tournaments for the last three years, and have had two first places and a second in the medal play.

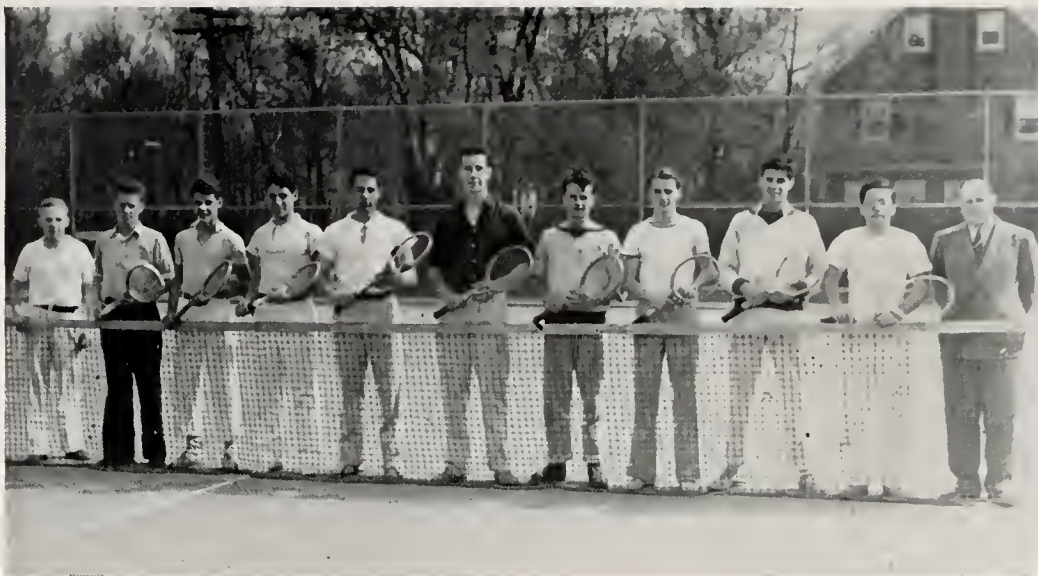

Very few of last year's team remained to trod the fairway this spring. Six members of the "37" team graduated. This year, Coach Aram built his hopes around Captain Tom MacMoran, Howie Keefe, Van Smith and Gordon Sibley.

The Waukegan match constituted one of the stinging defeats suffered by the team this year. The score was $15\frac{1}{2}$ - $9\frac{1}{2}$. The match with Proviso, with a score of 9-6, was another bitter defeat, but these were offset by the victories over Evanston, Morton, and Niles Center.

TENNIS TEAM

W. Knauer, G. Daly, P. Kreer, J. Cahn, B. Greenberg, J. Deacon, C. Nevins, J. Bryson, R. Lundin, B. Levings, G. H. Flaningam (coach).

This spring Coach Flaningam faced the task of building almost an entire new team. Out of the last year's squad, there was only one player returning of the four who bore most of the match play last spring and earned NT a state championship.

In the team matches, the Treverians have built up a record that can be matched by few teams in this section of the country. Having lost but one match in the last three years, they have been found at the top of the Suburban League each time. Last year they trounced University High and Main twice, and Lake Forest, Highland Park, Morton, and Evanston each once, all by the score of five to nothing, finishing their schedule without a loss. The one and only hard match was with Oak Park whom they nosed out three to two. Besides making a clean sweep of all the matches, Coach Flaningam's boys tucked away both the Suburban league team and individual titles.

This year's tennis team had all the traditional strength that has been their characteristic in the past. Led by Capt. Dick Wade, who was a member of the doubles team which reached the semi-finals of the state tournament last year, the '38 squad did not quite equal last year's record. Dick, who is a junior, could be counted on to garner two points per match at one of the singles posts this year. Besides Wade, John Deacon, a senior, and Grover Daly, a junior, held down the other post. Able replacements were found in Charles Nevins, Jack Bryson, and "Sandy" Wilder, all seniors. Capt. Wade was the only member of the squad to go downstate for the state meet but returned unsuccessful.

One of the most important phases of New Trier's athletic department is the intra-mural program. This program is shaped to give every boy at New Trier, whether or not he plays the games well, a chance to participate in competitive sports.

Since most of the sports have advisory room teams, a spirit and feeling of unity is created in the advisory room, each player takes an interest in the game in an effort to help the advisory win. Besides touch football, basketball, volleyball, and baseball, all of which are sports in which the advisory is the unit, there are many individual sports including ping-pong, handball, horseshoes, swimming, track, tennis, and golf. In both individual and team sports those students who are unable to win places on the varsity squads are given a chance to compete in tournaments. The principal objective of the intra-mural program is to discourage spectators by encouraging participation.

The main event of this year's program was the Third Annual Sports Carnival. This show was planned to give the parents and members of the township an opportunity to see the intra-mural program at work. Exhibitions of basketball, swimming, and track were held, climaxed by an exhibition of first class volleyball in which the Division Street Y.M.C.A. played the Chicago Turnvereins.

"Sports and Sportsmanship for all" is a worthwhile mark to shoot at. This is just what the Sports Club is doing through its Intra-Mural program.

The club's function has always been to sponsor, promote, and conduct as many intra-mural sports as possible; to educate in methods of playing, officiating, and managing in various sports; to develop sportsmanship and a spirit of fair play in all sports; and to encourage participation in active recreation.

Meetings are held weekly in which lectures are given by coaches and the subjects discussed. Thus, every phase of each sport is covered from the rules and methods of playing to the most practical methods of officiating.

The work of this club has done much for the school's intra-mural sports as it has organized all games according to standard rules and procedure. One of the problems of the program was the lack of interest which led to frequent forfeits. Consequently the club introduced the forfeit-fee system by which each advisory was obliged to post a fee and, unless the rules governing forfeits were adhered to, the fee was lost. This has almost completely solved the problem by making the contestants more conscientious in performing their duties.

Physical Education

The physical education department at New Trier offers a wide general field of sports in its required classes ranging from indoor games such as badminton and volleyball to football, baseball and track. After school, the gyms and playing fields are available for intra-mural and team use.

Though obscure and unknown to the main part of the student body, to a large group of boys the south gym and the adjoining rooms are a mecca every afternoon. Here, rain or shine, winter or summer, can be found boys tumbling, wrestling, and doing gymnastics. One group of these boys is investigating the possibility of forming a weight-lifting club. Though there is no organized competition, these boys work as hard as though they were actually on a team.

Two handball courts are always in demand, and if there isn't at least one argument a day over who has the right to play, "Joe" begins to think the boys are getting unhealthy.

MEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION FACULTY

Standing: Mr. William P. Happ, Mr. Gottfried S. Sandvig.

With no adequate provision for boxing, the pugilists of the township have made use of a boxing room next to the south gym where one can see promising efforts. When not busy coaching the frosh-soph diamond squad, Mr. Sandvig, commonly known as Sandy, is on hand to help all phases of this part of the athletic program.

"Hey Joe! any practice today?" This is the question that Joseph Schmitt, known to over 8,000 students since 1921 as "Joe," has good naturedly answered since he came here. For seventeen years he has ruled the locker room, coming here shortly after his own graduation from New Trier. Joe has not only taken care of the locker room, and been trainer of all the athletic teams, but he has been a friend to the thousands of boys who have used the facilities of this department.

By the time a fellow is a senior here, Joe not only knows either his first name or his last, but also can tell his basket number by his face. For almost two decades Joe has had a word of encouragement and help for New Trier athletes. Always willing to lend a helping hand, he looks forward to many more years of service.

Three afternoons a week the rifle range echoed with the shooting of the Gray-Green rifle team. An enthusiastic group turned out for the range work this year and carried out a full program. Shooting in bi-weekly matches, the team sent the five best scores to the National headquarters to be entered in the National competition. During the first semester, the marksmen placed second in their division. In the only dual meet, the squad defeated a team from Freeport, N. Y., in a postal meet. The outstanding marksmen of the year were Richard Lippincott, Alexis Tellis, Justus Schlichting and Sigdon Eliot. Richard Lippincott can boast of the only perfect score turned in.

Following the customs of previous years, the first event on the program was the introduction of the freshmen to the GAA. During the first week of school an assembly was held to present the officers to the new students. A brief outline of the sports offered was given. Later that week exhibition hockey and soccer games were played and the fall season was officially opened.

The next big event was fall sports day with Evans-ton and Oak Park girls as guests. Following the soccer and tennis games, the girls toured the school and ate lunch in the girls' club room.

During the Hockey season in rapid succession came the selection of the schoolgirls' team, the Umpiring convention, and the National Field Hockey Tournament. The last event brought the best players from all over the U. S. to Winnetka. It also brought Miss May Fogg, former head of our GAA department. The GAA quickly took advantage of this by asking her to speak in the fall assembly. She joined with "Duke" Childs, who presented the awards, in offering an excel-lent assembly program.

An event the GAA board will long remem-ber was the over-night trip to the Isaak Walton Lodge.

Sports Conference was held. The GAA and University High of Chicago gave a tea for the participants.

For the first time an effort was made to contact eighth grade girls before their entering New Trier. Ten girls from each grammar school came for an afternoon. They went swimming, watched the sports, and then had an informal meeting, with refreshments, in the Girls' Club room. The successful afternoon will probably become an annual affair. One result was the invitation for Junior and Senior basketball teams to play an exhibition game in Glencoe.

New Trier kept up its high standards by coming in second in the telegraphic swimming meet. Rhythms also did well in an informal afternoon program and in the opera "The Chimes of Normandy." In this the dancers did an entre-acte number. Recreational games and riflery continued to be popular.

The spring sports progressed very well. Archery, lacrosse, baseball, golf, tennis all had fine seasons and the riders gave an excellent horse show. The banquet in June was the climax to an extremely successful year.

SOCCKER . . . An exhibition soccer game was held in the beginning of the season to introduce the game to freshmen. Later the girls were hostesses to some Evanston soccer players. A round-robin adviser room tournament was held; the Cook-Kimbell team won the frosh-soph series, while the Galle team won among the juniors and seniors. In the class tournament, the juniors were victorious. Mrs. Rehage, Frances Storner (head of soccer), and managers Mary Burlingame, Betty Crawford and Barbara Lawson, directed the sport.

HOCKEY . . . About 220 girls participated in hockey this fall under the capable leadership of Aimee Wolff, head, and Miss Adair and Miss Boulton, instructors. Assisting them were the class managers: Marion Masters, Nancy Bercaw, and Mary Burton Graff. Practice games were held, and then an inter-class tournament was played. In November the selection of the North Shore School Girls' team was made. The following New Trier girls were put on the teams: Marian Gourley and Jane Records on the first team and Beverly Andrews and Pat Walsh on the second.

GOLF . . . For the first time golf was abandoned in the fall and made strictly a spring sport. Under the direction of Miss Boulton and Mary Wilder several novelty tournaments were played off. Instruction by the pro, Mr. Anderson, at the golf course was given and was most beneficial to all who participated.

GOLF

Macalister, Hearne, Sprenger, Penberthy, Gourley, Hartman, Wilder.

TENNIS . . . Tennis again proved to be a very popular sport. In the fall singles tournament, Marion Woolhiser defeated Marg Walker, the head of tennis, for the school championship. The doubles got off to a grand start but could not be finished because of bad weather. In October Oak Park played a return match with New Trier, with the resulting score of 3 to 3. In the spring season there was a very exciting singles tournament.

TENNIS TEAM

First Row: Neilson, Kracha, Hazelet, Wolff, Nielsen.

Second Row: Koenen, Herrens, Felsenthal, Woolhiser, Walker.

HORSEBACK RIDING . . . Ann Hunter Hearne and the riders jogged through two good seasons. In the fall Mrs. Taylor of the Crestwood Stables watched the groups and the three more advanced groups had special rides. In the spring most of the time was spent in preparation for the annual horse show, which was well worth the effort of the riders.

FISTBALL . . . Under the leadership of Mrs. Abbott, and Helen Clark, the sport's head, a single elimination tournament was held for fist ball. The following teams were winners: Kimbell, of the freshman tournament; Hadden, of the sophomore tournament; the combined teams of Paul, Payton, Pinn, and Rehage, among the seniors. Because of lack of time it was neither possible to finish the junior tournament nor to hold an inter-class series of games. At the end of the season, volleyball was offered for anyone who wanted to participate. The class managers Peg Pierson, Pat Penick, and Margaret Stoetzel were of great assistance throughout the season.

RECREATIONAL SPORTS . . . Organized last year continued to be a popular attraction of the GAA sports program this year. Under Ruth Sprenger and Mrs. Abbott, the gyms were opened on Friday afternoons to all those interested in such indoor games as badminton, ping pong and shuffleboard. Large numbers of girls turned out every week and though there were no teams, five points were given to any girl participating. The climax of the season was a ping pong tournament which was won by Olive Carlson and Edna Cummings.

BASKETBALL . . . In basketball a round-robin tournament was played. Edith Mendum's junior team defeated the Hadden-Evans team for the school championship. At the end of the season, class teams were chosen and the junior team was victorious. During the season the junior and senior class teams played an exhibition game at Central School in Glencoe.

SWIMMING . . . Swimming is a very popular sport in spite of girls' pride about their curls. Lucy Huck, head of swimming, and Miss Healy, instructor, supervised after school swimming all year for each class. The juniors won the inter-class meet from the freshman runner-up team. In the telegraphic swim meet held every year among 10 schools, New Trier placed second. Life saving and a special swimming class were offered the last quarter. Nancy Robb, senior manager, Louise Yates, junior manager, and Helen Kaempfer, sophomore manager, aided Lucy Huck.

RHYTHMS . . . Aspiring dancers were so numerous that three rhythms groups were formed, dividing the dancers into beginning, intermediate, and advanced sections.

Jayn Kassner, head of rhythms, was unfortunately unable to continue after the first semester, but her place was ably filled by Martha Karnopp.

Along with its usual series of dancing programs, the opera dance was the main project of the groups.

CLOGGING . . . The whole season was spent this year in preparing a dance to present at the GAA banquet. Barbara Welch and Mrs. Rehage, as instructors, worked respectively with the advanced and the beginners' groups. Jane Penberthy, head of clogging, helped select the teams that performed at the GAA banquet, the climax of the season.

RIFLERY . . . With Mr. W. S. Brown as instructor and Adelaide Koenen as head of the sport, riflery was marked by better turnouts and better shooting. An improvement made on the rifle range this year was the installation of carriers, insuring more safety for the shooters. All the awards are received through the National Association in Washington. Riflery is rapidly advancing in popularity with the girls as well as the boys.

LACROSSE . . . N.T. girls were again offered lacrosse under the direction of Miss Adair and Mary Jo Hoyne, sports head. Margaret Tuttle, Ruth Hudson, and Beverly Glenn were the managers who directed the class and inter-class tournaments. New Trier's best lacrosse players were invited to a playday, in which many schools participated.

ARCHERY . . . After this year's class and school champions were decided, the better archers were given the opportunity to enter the telegraphic meet. Another highlight of the year was the Play Day at N.T. with Evanston and Oak Park. Mrs. Abbott, instructor, was assisted by Pat Jillson, head of archery, and the managers, Janice Yoeman and Nancy O'Hara.

BASEBALL . . . Headed by Doris Paterson and the instructor, Mrs. Rehage, the girls batted and pitched a successful season. A round-robin advisor room tournament was played and at the end of the season class teams were chosen and an inter-class tournament was played. The class managers were Char Watson, senior, Sue Hazlet, junior, and Barbara Stevens, sophomore.

Quit wishing for a LaSalle ... and get one!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD of a quarter of a million people who are now wishing they owned a LaSalle might just as well be driving one!

These people believe they can't afford LaSalle. Yet—they paid as much for their cars as a new LaSalle costs. And they save nothing on upkeep and operating costs—for LaSalle is the world's most economical fine car.

Surely, we speak only common sense when we say that the man who pays the price of a LaSalle ought to get a LaSalle.

So check over your motor car investment. If you have been paying above a thousand dollars for your motor cars—make your next one a LaSalle. You're entitled to it, and you might as well have it! Come in today . . . for a look and a ride.
